Jason Skidmore

Executive Partner, Technology

Jason Skidmore is an executive leader, entrepreneur, business advisor, and board member with experience founding, leading, and advising organizations for success. As a Founder and CEO of a technology talent organization, he led the company to multiple awards and recognition, including three-times as an Inc 5000 winner. After a successful exit, Jason went on to become Co-Founder of a business that works closely with Executive Technology leaders in navigating a successful career life cycle. Jason is passionate about enabling these leaders to align their technical acumen with business strategy to achieve superior results for themselves and the organizations they lead. This is why he is excited to align with the Infinite CXO team.

As a Board and Strategic advisor to multiple private and non-profit organizations, Jason has helped them understand market positioning, enhance operational efficiencies, and build go-to-market strategies to achieve scale. He is also an active participant and leader of technology communities and trade associations.

A husband and father of four awesome kids, ages ranging from elementary school to college, Jason spends his free time navigating their chaotic family schedule – and loving every minute of it!
